The Challenges of Do-It-Yourself Security

In addition to high Information Security payroll costs, other challenges of managing your security in-house include:

- Highly specialized training and expertise required.
- Shortage of information security professionals.
- Complex regulations on security, privacy and breach notification.
- Ongoing release of sophisticated new security tools, technologies and protocols.
- Evolution of new malware, zero-day threats and ransomware.

Benefits of a Virtual or Part-time CISO

Ready access to security expertise	Avoidance of unnecessary costs	Improved compliance	Assured executive-level oversight	Improved incident response management	Stronger security posture
